

Documentation assignment 2

February 10th, 2023

Group 11

DA2480

Essence way of working

Similarly to the first assignment, the team completed this assignment by working in a trunk based development process, using GitHub and the Python programming language. Our current way of working state could be defined as the "in place" state. Meaning, all team members are using the way of working to accomplish their work. For a large portion of this assignment, the group was in Use state - trying to figure out how to approach the problem, given the commonly decided tools. A reason for this might be the increase in complexity of the task compared to DECIDE, where now many different components has to work together - server, tests, webhooks email notifications and so on. The group is as of today (10th feb) quickly approaching the "working well" state, and hopefully soon after that the "retired" state, when the assignment is done and the team no longer works on it.
